RECALL, DEPOSIT WITHHELD

The present Provincial Administration was responsible for the passage of the Recall Act in which it provided for a $200.00 deposit being made as an assurance that the proceedings would be carried on. Citizens in the High-River-Oskotea Constituency instituted proceedings and the required deposit, seeking the recall of the Premier. To forestall any possible success of the move, the present government abolished the Recall Act. Naturally those who made the deposit now want it back, but the Department of the Attorney General, of which the Premier is the head, has laid it down that the deposit will be returned only when the forms which the Government sent out are returned to the clerk of the Assembly. The promoters of the recall proceedings say they will return the forms with the names of those who signed detached; in other words they will return the headings of the forms only. This does not appear to be satisfactory to the Government for although repeated demands have been made for a return of the money, or an answer to the last proposal, the money has not been paid, nor has any answer been submitted.

Now that the Act has been repealed, it is clear that the forms must be worse than useless. What is the purpose, then, of the Government insisting on the return of the forms? Is it to use the information which might be gained thereby to penalize anyone who may have signed them? And by what right does the Government seek to impose any new conditions now that the Statute has been repealed? Also by what right, in the case of equity, can the Government claim to be entitled to keep the money? It was only a deposit to cover certain eventualities which the Government itself rendered impossible of fulfillment. If any private individual tried to get away with that kind of trickery, a very odious word would be used to describe the offence, and the department of the Attorney General would be instrumental in seeing the offender properly punished.

THE LETHBRIDGE ELECTION

As this is being written the electors of the Lethbridge Constituency will be flocking to the polls in a by-election which has developed into a straight fight between Social Credit and those opposed. Judging by all reports, the activities of the Cabinet (Mr. Aberhart spent three days there this week on the business of the Government), the presence of so many Farmers, Grits and Tories not usually so fond of visiting in Lethbridge and other indications, the fight has been hot and hard. On various occasions during the past twelve months, Mr. Aberhart has loudly avowed any clear trial of strength, although the men he has urged his supporters to support have been beaten all along the line. This time, however, to use his own words: "Social Credit is on the Spot." The result will clearly indicate just how "the common people" regard their self-styled deliverers from the bonds of slavery. If Lethbridge should decline the candidature of Mr. Barnard, the Social Credit nominee, it may be taken as certain that the rest of the province will be prepared to do likewise if given the opportunity, not that the government will be in too big a hurry to provide that opportunity. We must imagine, also, a healthy and sane election, to persuade the Premier that he and his group have lost the confidence of the people. And he cannot be forced out except action of the Lieutenant Governor, which is almost too much to hope for.

THE NEW CURRICULUM

Attention of parents, school teachers, school boards, educationalists, and the general public in the new course of studies being tried out in the Province, is directed to an article specially written for the Recorder, and printed elsewhere in this issue.

While it may be far too soon to condemn the new departure outright there are certain aspects of it which appear manifestly ridiculous. Can anyone imagine a teacher in a rural school who is capable of teaching reading, writing, arithmetic, and other subjects well known in the old course, plus music, art, drama, typewriting, business and manual art to mention only a few of the other subjects which must now be taught, doing so at a salary perhaps below the minimum of $800 per annum? Schools in the province are not equipped to do the work; to do it right means great expansion not only in equipment, but probably in building, and the expense is quite prohibitive. Once again the poor old taxpayer has received but scant consideration. How much longer he can, or will, stand for it remains to be seen.

The practical abolition of Departmental Examinations, except in a couple of grades, is another feature which does not appear as being reasonable or fair, either to the student or to the teacher. It will take a great deal more moral courage than the average teacher in any school possesses to take it upon himself or herself to pass "Johnny Jones" and fail "Jack Tansor" more especially if "Jack's" father should happen to be a member of the School Board. And then when the final test comes before the Department poor "Jack" and all the others with no experience of previous years in writing examinations in easier units, will find themselves incapable of surmounting the hurdle in many cases.

"ULTRA VIRE" AGAIN

Once again our old friend "Ultra Vires" has put in another appearance. With the knowledge gained in recent years in connection with Provincial Legislation, we feel sure it is unnecessary to dwell with the meaning of the word. But this time they have dropped up in a different connection.

The Appeal Court of the Province has ruled that the Dominion Marketing Act, which seeks to regulate amongst other things just how poultry hatcheries of a certain minimum output may be run, is beyond the power of the Dominion parliament to enact, this decision being, however, quiet in keeping with similar decisions handed down in other Courts in both Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

While the decision, from a strictly legal standpoint, is undoubtedly correct, it must be matter of great regret to those who are vitally interested in increasing the quality, if not the quantity, of such things as the Act purports to regulate, that it has been declared "ultra vires." It was on the power of the Dominion parliament on which Denmark and Sweden founded their present great output of superior farm products. And it will be only by and through such measures that this Dominion can or will be able to compete successfully in the Great British market with the Scandinavian countries.

FAITH IN THE WEST

Every Westerner who contacts in Eastern Canada and everyone who reads what is written in the East remembers the advice of October 4th — that the Western farmer need only to diversify his crops and raise cattle and hogs to solve all his problems. Usually this advice came from men who had deserted Ontario farms, and gone to the cities to make their fortunes by their wits. Their notions were based on memories of the old swimmer hole which always boasted eight feet of water on the shady side of a high pasture.

Less has been heard of this talk in recent years, since the news began to filter back East that conditions are different. In this country, is the pessimistic theory now prevailing that the best thing for all concerned is for the folks to take their implements to another region?

With all this in the back of our minds it is comforting to read in a financial paper statement from the general manager of the Massey-Harris Company, (Mr. J. S. Duncan) which should set a few Easterners right about Western farming. Mr. Duncan says that the trouble in the Western drought areas, serious as these are, in 1937, are due 98 per cent to lack of moisture and 2 per cent to faulty farming methods. (Incidentally, if only 2 per cent of Ontario farmers were faulty in some of their methods there would be fewer abandoned their farms in that fortunate province.) Mr. Duncan then goes on to point out that there is a definite cycle in rainfall and that, with only four inches in 1937, the trend upward should be evident soon. It is well to have these things brought to the attention of the Easterner by someone who should be heeding by his readers. The Massey-Harris Company has been doing business in the West for a long period of time and is interested through its general manager will help in getting the West to understand the West.

Support of the Duncan statement comes from the Searle Oil Company which in its 5-phenolite 15 bulletins gives figures to show that the Western lands are not, as some Easterners aver, suffering from "loss of fibre and depletion of soil fertility," which has been brought about, as our critics assert, "by the extravagant and wasteful use of fertilizers of the wheat growers of the West." This bulletin shows that areas which have been producing wheat for sixty years are still producing good wheat and a good yield per acre. The average yield in 1937 has been 16.5 bushels per acre. But in the four years from 1901 to 1904, with only choice lands under cultivation, the yield was 21 bushels. In the years 1925 to 1928, the yield was 20.1 bushels. This does not show any decline in fertility. Further:

"Crop District No. 1 in south western Manitoba, centering around Deloraine and Waskada, reveals an interesting picture. Here is an area definitely in the bad western drought zone, and several times in the past 50 years there has been talk of abandoning the whole district. In 1936 it only averaged 4.3 bushels to the acre. In 1934 only 1.1 bushels, in 1931 only 1.7 bushels, in 1924 only 1.2 bushels, and in 1917 only 1.0 bushel. This district has suffered severely from soil blowing at different times, yet this present year at least normal yields have been averaged with odd fields running as high as 35 bushels to acre."

From the same source one learns that the Manitoba farm from which was shipped the first wheat ever exported to the East, the same fields are growing wheat with only a few summer fallows in a period of 61 years. One of the owners says that with proper rainfall and good growing conditions such fields produce now as much as they ever did.—From the Davidson Letter, Davidson, Sask.

GOOD? SANE? HONEST? ECONOMICAL?
ADMINISTRATION

Premier Aberhart has been proclaiming all along that even if the elements of progress like the Dominion Government, banks and newspapers had prevented him from putting his S. C. plans into execution at least he had given the province a sane, honest, economical administration. Either the Premier is one of the greatest self deluders known or else, to put it mildly, he handles truth in a very reckless and careless manner. The way in which the affairs of this province have been handled by him and his government would have brought a blush of shame to the cheeks of a president of a Central American Republic while for a British Dominion it is simply appalling. He has dismissed, nearly all he could of the old tried and faithful civil servants and has filled their places with totally incompetent Social Credit political hangers. — He has also increased the number by hundreds thereby adding greatly to the province's expenses. He has introduced laws which were not only ultra vires but were regarded by every British subject of this Dominion as being in violation of the rights of liberty and fair play. He has allowed the affairs of the province to be run by several men from the Old Country who are totally without standing there and whose positions and personalities are too insignificant to have attracted attention from any but the congregation of thinly disguised communists, who are masquerading at Edmonton and Ottawa under the name of Social Credit. He has used one of his departments at Edmonton in an effort to prevent men charged with criminal offences, and who are supporters of his from being tried by a properly constituted court. He has dismissed all his capable cabinet ministers because they would not connive at nor assist in his foolish, unjust, and unlawful actions. — He is appointing another minister of the Dept. of Public Works, though the latter has been proved by a judicial investigation to have so mismanaged his department by extravagance and incompetency as to have wasted hundreds of thousands of dollars of our money. He has ruined our credit, destroyed our prosperity, attacked the institutions on whom we have most to depend, quarrelled and antagonized the Dominion Government and even local, national and Imperial interest with which he came in contact, interfered with our individual rights and liberties and alienated by his course of action half to two thirds of those who voted for him in the last election. And this is the man who claims to be giving us good, honest, sane, economical government? Oskotea Review.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD
MIRROR PICTURES

HAVE you ever taken mirror pictures; that is, for example, a picture of a cat or the "pet picture" standing in front of a mirror perhaps "dolling up" a bit or maybe just admiring herself?

It is unusual that although attention but it is necessary to use your eyes and a little imagination and usually to forget out the exceptional and get pictures that show individuality.

When making mirror pictures and focusing for reflected images only, it is necessary to add the distance from the mirror to the subject, to the distance from the mirror to the lens of the camera and then set the focus accordingly.

If it is desired to include the subject in the picture with the reflected image the focus should be set for the distance from the mirror to the lens. The smaller the lens opening the greater the depth of field and the sharper will be both images. Of course, the nearer the subject to the mirror the less is required in the matter of "depth."

Let us suppose that sister Mary is two feet and the camera six feet from the mirror. If you want to include sister, as well as her reflection in the picture, set the focus at six feet. If you want only the reflected image in the picture, set the focus at eight feet. A photoflash lamp simplifies your exposure problem and permits a small enough lens opening to gain a sufficient range of sharpness.

After locating your subject in the mirror and setting the focus of your camera at the proper distance, set the shutter for "time," place a photoflash bulb in an ordinary room lamp within reaching distance from the camera, tilt the shade of the lamp upward and toward the subject. If you cannot tilt the shade, remove it from the lamp. It is best not to have any bright light burning near the lens of the camera. Set your lens opening according to the table on the photoflash lamp container. Take your position at the camera, press the cable release to open your shutter and immediately turn on the photoflash and then quickly close the shutter and the picture has been taken. Simple, isn't it? For this type of picture a No. 10 photoflash bulb will furnish enough light.

In amateur photography, experimenting becomes the spice of life and you will be surprised at the interesting effects you will get in working out "stunt" pictures on gloomy, rainy days when outdoor activities are taboo. Results, in some instances, may be rather grotesque but you will have a lot of inexpensive essays and pictures that show individuality. Anyone can take the ordinary run of pictures but it requires a little ingenuity to get the unusual. That is what you should "shoot" for, and the resulting pictures will be far more interesting than ordinary record pictures and breathe life itself into your photo-graph album.

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

CHRISTMAS SEALS

The most effective appeal which can be made to Canadians is through their sense of responsibility to their fellow-men. This humanitarian appeal is not forgotten when it is urged that tuberculosis be fought on economic grounds.

Tuberculosis strikes and kills at all ages. Neither the infant nor the aged is spared. The young adult bears the brunt of the attack. Tuberculosis more than any other disease, is more prevalent among the poor, that group which is least able to bear the expense of illness.

Most of the beds in sanatoria are public beds. But few families are able which can carry the financial burden of a disease when the time required for treatment must be reas-ured in years and months rather than weeks and days.

Among the young adults who fall victim to tuberculosis are many who are parents of young children. If it is a mother, then the house life will be disrupted. If it is the breadwinner, the family will likely collapse under an intolerable economic burden.

This is enough to make it clear that we should combat tuberculosis, if on no higher ground than that of saving our own pocket-books. Directly or indirectly, we all pay a price, the family cost of tuberculosis.

There is only one way in which we can lighten the burden, and that is through bringing about a reduction in the incidence of tuberculosis. Surprising as it may seem, there are thousands of Canadians who are suffering from tuberculosis, who are not aware of their condition. Their ignorance not only endangers their own lives, but makes of them a menace to others.

The first step in the campaign against tuberculosis is to find the cases. It is among the members of

The teachers' students of the Arrowwood school are taking much interest in bowling these days. Under the leadership of Mr. H. Miller, the boys have made quite a record using the sort-hall as bowling balls. The boys have started a tournament and have interested the girls in the game too. If the interest is kept up, they are planning on buying three or four sets and doing them in the playground in basement.

CANCEL PARTIES OF ACCOUNT OF MEKNERS

Arrowwood - The Browne pack have been disappointed lately. About a month ago they planned for a winter sport, but this had to be postponed on account of measles. Two weeks ago they planned for a little party to be held in the Social Grange Hall, but a case of scarlet fever broke out, and that was postponed. The Brownes are very appealing little people in their brown uniforms and hats (they all have their uniforms now). Their ages range from seven to eleven, and at the age of eleven they join the Girl Guides. When they become fifteen they can join the Ranger Patrol. The Guides and Brownies have planned for a Christmas party, and are in hopes that no more sickness will fall on the district and make it necessary to postpone this party too.

At this season of the year, all over Canada, Christmas Seals are being sold. The proceeds of the sale go to support the war that is being successfully waged against our enemy, tuberculosis. The army which fights for us not only takes care of those who fall victims to the disease, but also safeguards our lives day by day, as we go about our work.

B.H.S. Notes

Friends, Bassanians and Record-keepers, Hello, hello and hello. Here's a little news of the new year.

Apparently the High school students plan on having a good time in December. To vote against a Christmas party. Yes, believe it or not, they actually voted it down. At the student meeting. That is, they were not enough to satisfy one female. Oh, yes, let's have a party, Dora. "Nuff said."

The Indian Club swimmers are enjoying favorably under Mr. McGee's direction. James H. seems to be doing the best. (Waste the matter with Haines and Hunt? "They ain't them!")

This winter will see the boys conquering their shyness as well as Christmas and grand night (We hope).

The girls have been "mishy" for a long time. They are not in the mood for a social recreation yet. However, they have been "mishy" for a long time. A model state is to be built by Christmas. "I'm interested" about the girls and six hope it will be taken into consideration the teachers' time and thought. "Not to be missed."

Hope I have covered most of the happenings of school with no person allies hurt; as this High school seems to be very unusual, looking from other issues. However, digest a bit of gossip and keep looking on the bright side.

TOMORROW'S STOUT MEN OF THE NORTH

Unlike many adult hunters and prospectors from time to time lost in the North country, when Scout Louis Volians, 16, accompanied by four younger boys including one of five found he had lost his bearings in the heavy bush near Wanless, north of Pin Point, during a Saturday afternoon hunting expedition with a small rifle, he did not lose his head.

When darkness shortly came on with a chilling wind, he broke through the night, finding a fire for warmth and comfort, and grilling the partridge he had about. The partridge he divided with care, giving the breast meat to the youngest boy. Then, in preparation for daylight, he took direction from the north star and set a stick pointing in the direction that should bring them out on the railroad. Early in the morning they set off and finally came out on the rails four miles from home. Meanwhile the alarmed searchers Henry Schaffer left the Bassano hospital on Wednesday feeling very much improved after his operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Berquet of Carleton Place, Ont., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. Gougeon. Mrs. Berquet was formerly Miss P. Washburn of Arrowwood.

Ted Wade of Gem spent Wednesday at the home of Jim Maguire of Bassano.

After the usual opening exercises and T. knots and other requirements for the tenderfoot tests were studied at the Girl Guide meeting held this week. An interesting period was then spent on knitting fancywork and other handicraft. The meeting closed as usual at 9 o'clock.

Mrs. T. L. Maguire of Bassano has accepted the agency for Bishop's Novelties, of Calgary, and will be pleased to supply dance novelties for all dances and parties put on in the future.

On Tuesday, Dec. 7th, the Ladies of St. Columba R. C. Altar Society will hold their final meeting at the home of the Secretary. Details and arrangements will be completed for the Social Evening and Sale on Sat. Dec. 11th. Christmas Goose and a Doll will be raffled. Keep the date open and come and enjoy yourself.

WEDDINGS

MAGUIRE—HORGAN

St. Anne's church was the setting for a quiet wedding followed by a capital meal, on Saturday, Nov. 27th at 10 o'clock, when Julia Antonette Horgan of Calgary was united in marriage to Mr. Joseph Maguire, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Maguire of Bassano. Rev. Dean Dargis officiated.

The church was prettily decorated by American beauty roses and baby Mums. Miss Margaret Inmanus played the wedding music as the bride entered the church charmingly gown in a frock of "midnight blue" velvet. She carried a white and gold prayer book.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to friends and relatives at the Hotel Royal. Mr. and Mrs. Maguire will reside in Calgary.

who had failed to find them the previous afternoon and evening, were on the point of summoning aid from Pin Point. A lookout on top of the station water tank reported distant figures on the track. A section man sped away on a car-car to investigate and the lost quietest were soon safe back at home.

But for Scout Volians' coolness and headwork, the tale might have been long for several days, if nothing more serious had resulted. The partridge was the only food eaten since leaving home and they had been without water. The stout little five year old, when asked if he had not been terribly tired, replied, "Well, I was getting tired but I could have gone two more miles."
